

Five out-of-fold rotations generate training features; deployment executes the single nine-component graph above.